1. The first part of the report is a general introduction to the project. It describes the purpose of the study and the objectives that were set at the beginning.

2. The second part of the report is a detailed description of the methodology used in the study. This includes information about the data collection methods, the sample size, and the statistical tests that were used to analyze the data.

3. The third part of the report is a presentation of the results of the study. This section includes tables, graphs, and other visual aids that help to illustrate the findings of the research.

4. The fourth part of the report is a discussion of the results and their implications. This section explains how the findings of the study relate to the research objectives and what they mean for the field of study.

5. The fifth part of the report is a conclusion that summarizes the main findings of the study and provides a final statement about the overall results.

6. The sixth part of the report is a list of references that includes all of the sources that were used in the study. This is an important part of the report because it allows readers to find the original sources of the information used in the study.

7. The seventh part of the report is an appendix that contains any additional information that is relevant to the study but that does not fit into the main body of the report.
