The emblem of the Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences is a symbolic expression of the confluence of both Indian and Western systems of medicine. A central wand with entwined snakes symbolizes Greek and Roman God of Health called Hermes and Mercury, this is adopted as a symbol of modern medical science. The Pot above depicts Amruta Kalasham of Dhanwantari, the father of all health sciences. The wings above it depict the human soul called Hamsa (Swan) in Indian Philosophy. The rising Sun at the top symbolizes the knowledge and enlightenment. The two twigs of leaves in western philosophy symbolize olive branches which are an expression of peace, love and harmony. In Hindu Philosophy it depicts the Vanaspathi (also Called as Aushadhi) held in the hands of Dhanwantari which are the source of all medicines. The lamp at the bottom depicts human energy (Kundalini). The script “Devatiyatam Yadayuhu” inside the lamp is taken from the Upanishat Shantimantram (Bhadram Karnebhihi Shrunuyaama Devaha...) which says “may we live the full span of our lives allotted by god in perfect health” which is the motto of Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences.

Established on June 1, 1996, under the Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences Act of 1994 of the Government of Karnataka, RGUHS was created to bring uniformity and excellence to health sciences education across the state.

Prior to the inception of RGUHS, health sciences education in Karnataka was managed by multiple universities, leading to disparities in curricula and standards. Recognizing the need for a centralized authority, the Government of Karnataka established RGUHS to oversee and standardize education in Medicine, Dentistry, Ayurveda, Homeopathy Unani, Naturopathy and Yogic Science, Sowa Rigpa, Nursing, Pharmacy, Physiotherapy and Allied Health Sciences.

RGUHS offers a comprehensive range of undergraduate, postgraduate, and doctoral programs across various disciplines:

RGUHS places a strong emphasis on research, encouraging faculty and students to engage in innovative studies that contribute to medical science and public health. The university supports research through funding, infrastructure, and collaborations with national and international institutions.

RGUHS is among the pioneers to incorporate digital technology in the examination system. Online transmission of question papers, real time monitoring of examinations via web streaming, Peripheral scanning of answer booklets and digital evaluation has ensured that the results are declared within a short time of completion of examination.

Currently located in Jayanagar, Bengaluru, RGUHS will be moving to its own vast campus of about 216 acres at Ramanagaram. The university's digital library consortium, HELINET, provides access to a vast array of electronic resources, supporting both education and research. Beyond academics, RGUHS is actively involved in community health initiatives. The university collaborates with Government and other organisations to implement public health programs, conduct health camps, and promote awareness on various health issues, thereby contributing to the overall well-being of the community.

The NSS wing of RGUHS has received the President's Award on two occasions which is a testimony to its commitment to serve the nation. Over the years, RGUHS has garnered recognition for its contributions to health sciences education.
